INFORMATION FOR APPLICANTS

Every person who is licensed to practice architecture, who is a citizen of the United States, and whose legal residence is in the domain of The Institute, may apply for admission to corporate membership.

He must furnish the names of five persons as references, at least three of whom shall be corporate members in good standing and available for personal contact by the local chapter officers. The Executive Committee of the local Chapter passes on his qualifications, investigates the references, and sends its recommendations to The Institute which must be satisfied that he possesses the qualifications required and an honorable standing in the profession and in his community.

Upon admission to corporate membership the architect is entitled to all the rights and privileges, and subject to the obligations, which such membership implies. He may proclaim this recognition by use of the initials "A.I.A." as a suffix to his name or use the title "Member of The American Institute of Architects."

He becomes a member of a Chapter and a State Organization of The Institute in the territory in which he resides or has his place of business, as he elects, but pays an admission fee to The Institute only. However, he is obligated for annual dues to The Institute, the Chapter and to the State Organization to which he is assigned so long as he is a corporate member of The A.I.A.

Applications for corporate membership must be accompanied by the admission fee, which is $10.00, and $10.00 for the first year's dues.

First year's dues cover one full year if the election is completed by July 1. After that date the dues are pro-rated one-half for the current year and one-half applied to dues for the following year. Second year's dues are billed only for the portion thereof (on a semi-annual basis) required to pay to the following January 1, the beginning of The Institute's fiscal year. Thereafter each year's dues is for one calendar year.

The applicant who has been denied admission without prejudice may re-apply one year or more after the date of notice to him of his non-admission.

Additional information may be obtained from the local chapter secretary or from The Secretary of The Institute, 1735 New York Ave., N. W., Washington 6, D. C.
