

2023 AIA ANNUAL MEETING

It is the practice of The American Institute of Architects (AIA) and its members to comply strictly with all laws, including federal and state antitrust laws that apply to AIA operations and activities.

Annual meeting registration instructions will be provided to accredited delegates May 22-June 2, 2023. Immediately prior to this meeting being called to order, accredited delegates are reminded to have ready their mobile or computer devices for voting purposes. See the 2023 Annual Meeting page for information related to this meeting.

10:00am PT: Call to Order; Recording Attendance; President's Remarks

2023 AIA President Emily Grandstaff-Rice, FAIA, will call the 2023 AIA Annual Meeting to order.

Delegates will record their attendance and vote to accept the rules of procedure for this meeting.

Secretary Britt Lindberg, FAIA, will call for any nominations for election of officers or the At-large Director. Certified candidates will make speeches in support of their candidacy.

President Grandstaff-Rice will provide remarks on the state of the profession.

Presentation of Audited Financial Report

Treasurer Timothy C. Hawk, FAIA, will present the results of the 2022 annual audit and on AIA finances.

Strategic Council Update

President-elect Kimberly N. Dowdell, AIA, NOMAC, will present a summary of 2023 Strategic Council activities.

Members' Voice Task Force (MVTf) Update

President Grandstaff-Rice will provide remarks about the MVTf report recently submitted to the Board of Directors.

Presentation of Credentials Report

The 2023 Credentials Committee Chair will present the report of delegates accredited to cast their component's votes at this meeting and for the election of officers and the At-large Director.

Proposed Revisions to AIA Bylaws

Secretary Lindberg will present the four (4) proposed amendments to the AIA Bylaws.

Resolutions

There were no resolutions submitted from the membership this year.

Open Discussion

President Grandstaff-Rice will open the floor for discussion.

Members who are attending in person, are requested to stand at one of the microphones on the floor for such purpose.

Members who are attending virtually are requested to indicate their desire to speak via the electronic meeting platform and will be called upon in order.

Please note that no business that was not previously published, may be made during this open session. Instead, time has been reserved for presentation of ideas and issues that need to be fully researched before action can be proposed. This is an opportunity to engage with the leadership of the AIA – the Board, the Strategic Council, and fellow delegates. We welcome your voice, raising matters of interest to you and the profession. The Board will take your comments and direct an appropriate body to look into the matter for later discussion.
